

Floors and Walls Guide

Almost all floor tiles are 8x8. This allows you to vary the widths and heights in smaller steps than other objects. The walls support openings on all sides. The floors support shadows for when they are to the right or bottom of a wall. Everything is optional, you do not have to use the shadows, you do not have to use the south/ bottom facing walls (for that side you can opt for only black instead). The spritesheet just provides the lego blocks.

Some tiles are larger than 8x8. These are to be used as an overlay. Once again these are completely optional to use. An example of these are the white skirting boards you can put on the bottom of the walls.
